

Veterinarians agree – Obesity is the #1 problem with dogs today...some dog foods are tainted...and dog treats are related to both!

DO YOU REALIZE YOUR DOG'S TREATS... COULD ACTUALLY BE KILLING THEM?

Read this Special Report now and discover how to ensure you're rewarding your pet and not sending them to an early grave...

Dear Fellow Dog Owner,

You love your dog. You can't imagine life without them.

When you come home from work they're at the door to greet you, tail thumping with a happy pant.

They can't wait to get outside to cavort with you, eager to chase that ball another dozen times.

When a stranger comes to the door they're sure to let you know with a warning bark. You know your house is well guarded with your faithful partner nearby.

And at night your dog is often your closest friend, curling up warmly on your lap or by your feet.

For kids your dog is another brother or sister, from watching them at a soccer game to hopping up alongside at bedtime. They're best buddies.

Your dog is not just another pet – he's part of the family.

And like your kids, there's nothing you wouldn't do for your canine companion.

Maybe it's quality grooming. Or regular checkups at the vet. You always keep their shots up to date.

And for meal time you've done your research. You're sure to feed your dog a balanced diet complete with vitamins and nutrients to keep them healthy and happy.

You examine the pet food labels looking for quality and care...

Organic ingredients

Protein source

Lean meats
Vegetables and fruits
No extra preservatives
Low in sodium
Low in fat
Low or no grains
A truly healthy diet...

Only the best for your dog. They deserve it – after all, they're an important member of your family. You do the same for your kids – and yourself.

But when it comes to tasty treats for your four legged friend do you just...buy anything?

DOG FOOD'S DIRTY LITTLE SECRET

Know what kidney failure does to a dog? Decreased appetite, bloody urine, vomiting, weight loss. And a shortened life.

If your dog ever shows signs of kidney failure you need to get them to a veterinarian IMMEDIATELY.

But you'll be shocked to know what may have caused this situation...

In recent years there have been a number of scandals involving dog food and treats in America. Have you seen these?

In 2007 there was a massive recall of pet food made in China due to the presence of melamine, a chemical used in industrial manufacturing.

What does melamine do? It's used to create desktops, plates, closets, furniture, even flame retardant fabric. Definitely NOT healthy.

The contamination led to the deaths of possibly thousands of innocent pets to kidney failure. A firestorm of controversy followed with actions then taken by the Federal Food and Drug Administration to eliminate the tainted foods.

And then in 2014 major pet retailers Petco and PetSmart stopped selling Chinese-made treats because of possible contamination of dog jerky treats.

The stories picked up steam when it was alleged that similar contamination had made its way into human food. YOUR food.

One estimate says up to one-fifth of the soil in China may be chemically contaminated. Some Chinese who can afford it buy their own food imported from other countries. Many aren't so lucky.

So is there an answer for your dog that you can TRUST? One much closer to home? Yes there is...

DON'T LET YOUR FRIEND EXIST ON DOGGIE JUNK FOOD

It's tough enough for people to watch their diet, right? Hidden salt and sugar in foods is rampant.

Putting together a healthy menu for your dinner table at home is a real challenge.

Eating out? Sure, many restaurants now list calorie counts on their menus – but that doesn't include the amount of fat, saturated fat, trans fat, carbs, cholesterol, and any other items hiding in foods.

And be honest – we've all visited the snack food aisle at the grocery store. Perhaps multiple times. Those yummy sugary or salty snacks are hard to resist.

Ever examine the ingredients of many pet snacks? It's like a mine field of dietary traps and unknown pitfalls. Familiar with these?

- By-products
- Mixed tocopherols
- Phosphoric acid
- Ferrous sulfate
- Copper sulfate
- Other sulfates
- Yellow 5
- Red 40
- Blue 2
- Pyridoxine hydrochloride
- Calcium iodate
- And on and on...

Some may actually be beneficial for your pet. Others not so much. Others not at all.

Would you eat foods loaded with these items? Would you feed them to your family?

Then why feed them to your dog? Not much of a “treat,” right?

But there are treats with plenty of taste for your dog and no worries for you...

EXPERTS AGREE – YOUR DOG’S TREATS ARE AN IMPORTANT PART OF THEIR DAILY ROUTINE

“Treats are very important to a dog’s overall diet,” says Dr. Fred Metzger.

Dr. Metzger is a board certified veterinary specialist and medical director at Metzger Animal Hospital, State College, PA.

When small animal lovers need top quality care in central Pennsylvania, many of them visit his full-service 24-hour clinic.

Dr. Fred Metzger DVM, MRCVS, DABVP

Along with his practice, Dr. Metzger also travels the globe around 60 days per year as a speaker for Idexx Labs, one of the largest veterinary diagnostic companies in the world from their headquarters in Maine. Idexx Labs is a world leader in pet healthcare innovation.

Bottom line – Dr. Metzger knows pets and nutrition.

“We sometimes overfeed our pets,” he says, “and especially with treats. Dogs are good at begging, they train us, and then we give them inappropriate treats.

“People feed good balanced diets and then give treats high in sodium and calories. Now we’ve unbalanced the previously balanced diet. Treats can cause a major problem.”

What’s the primary issue with dogs and nutrition right now?

“People are feeding a lot of treats that are really unhealthy,” says Dr. Metzger. “We’re looking at a lot of obesity, the #1 problem we’re seeing in dogs right now.

“Bad dog treats have high sodium, high fat, and something that could create digestive upsets. Some of the rawhide treats can get stuck in mouths or cause obstructions.

“Most of the treats that people are buying are unhealthy – pig ears from China, who knows what that is. I think there’s a better market for healthy treats.”

So what’s healthy?

COOKING YOUR OWN DOG TREATS – MORE CONS THAN PROS

For many conscientious dog owners, doing their own home cooking for their faithful friend seems like a good alternative.

After all, you watch your own diet well with proper vitamins and nutrients. You keep track of fats, sugars and what goes in your own body and that of your family members.

Why not just do the same for your dog? Simple solution, right?

“If you try to home cook a diet for your dog they’re probably NOT going to have a balanced diet,” Dr. Metzger says. “It could take you a year or more to really formulate a diet that’s balanced in calcium, phosphorus, protein and other items.

“It would be almost impossible to do that by home cooking a diet. And treats should match the diet.”

So with canine obesity on the rise, scandals involving the production of many dog treats, and no real time to do your own quality pet cooking, what’s the solution?

A HEALTHY ANSWER FROM AMERICA’S HEARTLAND

There is an alternative...

And it’s as American as baseball and apple pie.

All thanks to a pet loving married couple, Ron and Susan Johnson. They began Furry Friends Natural Products in 1990 from their home in rural Grayslake, Illinois, just north of Chicago.

The goal – create pet-health products that are safe and wholesome without the worries associated with offerings from other countries.

As dog owners themselves the Johnsons have the same concerns as you –

Where are my pet items coming from?

Are they safe?

Are fellow Americans producing the foods and merchandise I’m using with my dog?

The Johnsons are just like many other regular folks from small town America – hard working, caring, down to earth.

And lifetime dog lovers who care deeply for their beloved companions.

From those beginnings the Johnsons have built a company dedicated to healthy and happy canines – and their happy owners.

And this includes the healthiest dog treats available anywhere –

PUPTASTIC NATURALS

“I think your Puptastic Naturals are fantastic! They certainly seem to help with our dog Bentley’s training. A great incentive and reward. :-)”

J. Jefferson

“In the overwhelming sea of dog treat choices out there, it’s important to find a truly healthy snack for dogs. I’m very impressed with the integrity of your business and I recommend Puptastic Naturals to all my clients looking for healthy treats for training or just anytime.”

Dr. S. Karovski, DVM

THE MIDWEST, THE BREADBASKET OF THE WORLD

For you and me – why not for your dog as well?

The farms of the Great Midwest are world renowned for producing foods that feed the planet. People everywhere are often fed by American farms using home grown American technology and ultimate safety.

And in recent times there has been a growing interest in farming that provides foods which follow organic and healthy practices to limit or eliminate pesticides or pathogens.

American farms today produce some of the safest and healthiest foods in world history, and a LOT of it, to help feed people across the globe.

So why not for your dog as well? Shouldn’t their treats follow the same standards?

The Johnsons heard you, and started their Puptastic Naturals series of treats using chemical-free practices in the production of the individual ingredients used.

But not from large corporate farms only interested in making a buck.

Instead Puptastic Naturals are created from fresh, hand-selected ingredients from local farms in the Midwest. Absolutely American, absolutely safe.

Unlike large scale dog food manufacturers who often create their foods from the cheapest sources in huge factories, Puptastic Naturals treats are made in the kitchens of Furry Friends Natural Products in small-town Grayslake by regular folks (and fellow dog owners) only interested in making the best dog treats possible.

And their “people food quality” kitchens exceed the standards and are endorsed by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the Association of American Feed Control Officials (AAFCO.)

“There is so much confusion about natural dog treats that I’m grateful to have found your treats. Your ingredients are the real deal and I respect that you work with local farms that you inspect yourself.”

C. Dale

“We’re proud to be one of the first veterinary clinics to carry your products, especially since we offer holistic and alternative pet care in addition to traditional medicine. We endorse only the healthiest, safest products and Puptastic Naturals are at the top of our list of recommended treats.”

Dr. S. Karovski, DVM

Know where the ingredients of your furry friend’s dog treats come from? Where they’re REALLY from?

MEET SOME OF THE FARMERS OF PUPTASTIC NATURALS

The Johnsons only wanted trusted sources for their Puptastic Naturals ingredients. So their rule – only top quality farms from within four hours of Grayslake.

Why?

That way they could visit their suppliers on a regular basis. They inspect the foods themselves, talk to the farmers, make sure it’s the freshest quality possible.

It's this attention to detail that makes them proud to put their seal of approval on each and every bag.

These farmers are proud to partner with Furry Friends Natural Products to help produce the healthiest dog treats anywhere:

Sam Benson, owner/operator of Benson Chicken Farms, Spring Grove, IL

A 32-year veteran, Sam's operation uses only the most organic means of raising chickens...

- Free range
- No hormone or antibiotic usage
- Feed used without herbicides or pesticides
- USDA-certified organic
- Healthy and flavorful chicken

"I'm thrilled to be working with the Johnsons and Furry Friends to create their terrific Puptastic Naturals dog treats. I feed them to my own dogs!"

Joni Richards, owner of Valleywide Farms in Crystal Lake, IL

Joni's family has been farming in Crystal Lake for over 100 years. Her operation specializes in growing alfalfa from certified organic seed with sustainable farming practices. Her alfalfa adds much to the flavor and freshness of Puptastic Naturals.

"We eat healthy, why shouldn't your dog? We're happy to contribute to Puptastic Naturals dog treats!"

Joseph Lincoln, owner/operator of Lincoln Farms, Pleasant Prairie, WI

Joseph and his family run the largest farm operation in rural Clinton County, Wisconsin but it's one dedicated to raising healthy organically-produced carrots and green beans exceeding USDA standards. The result is some of the best tasting vegetables anywhere.

"My dog Sparky absolutely loves Puptastic Naturals treats. That we include ingredients from our own farms makes them even better."

Bob Watson, owner of Four Springs Cattle Farm, Bull Valley, IL

A 37 year cattle farmer, Bob uses open organic barns to raise his animals using free range techniques. His cattle eat feed created without pesticides or chemicals and are processed in an organic slaughterhouse without fear of contamination. His USDA-certified farm is one of the finest in northern Illinois.

“We work hard to raise the healthiest beef anywhere. And we’re honored that the Johnsons chose our farm as a beef source for their Puptastic Naturals dog treats.”

And that’s just for starters. Puptastic Naturals dog treats are created from hand-picked ingredients from over 20 local farms in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

Want to see for yourself? Check out our website at www.puptasticnaturals.com and watch videos of our valued farming partners. And check out the video from our own production kitchens in Grayslake. SEE where your pet’s treats are made.

“Our dogs are truly our best friends, and we won’t feed them anything less than human grade ingredients. This includes treats. Thank you so much for producing a quality product for our pups.”

C. Dale

Subject Line – Your dog’s treats may actually be KILLING them...

Hi (first name), it’s Ron Johnson from Furry Friends Natural Products with some thoughts on something that’s important to both of us – our beloved dogs...

My wife Sue and I have been dog lovers as long as we’ve been together, nearly 30 years now. Actually she and I have been dog lovers since we were both children.

I can’t imagine life without a dog by my side. Running and playing, fetching and jumping, even scratching and howling. All of those normal dog things that have created a lifetime of memories. Even those “OK, what did you get into out in the yard?” moments.

Ever have a tough day at work and you come home to your trusted companion? You could yell, complain, stomp around – and your valued dog sits there and listens with that curious innocent look on their face. Many people wouldn’t do that, right?

And all the stresses of the day melt away as you pet your friend, his way of saying “I’m glad your home, it’s not so bad.”

Your dog is an important member of your family. Just like a son or daughter, you’re raising them and teaching them about life.

And all the while your dog is by your side for those moments when you really need them, satisfied with an ear rub or a back scratch. Always dependable, always there.

So it got us to thinking – shouldn’t our dog’s diet be just as important as our own? And when it comes to treats for our friend, shouldn’t we offer them the same high quality?

(LINK – Puptastic Naturals All Natural Dog Treats)

You take the time to make sure all your family members have a good balanced diet. And that means ALL of your family members including the pets in your home.

There are many different brands of dog foods and treats on the market today. A walk through your local pet supply store or just down the nearby grocery store pet food aisle features so many choices. It’s a thankful by-product of living in our great country.

Which to choose? What is best for your furry friend?

The sale of the week? A large container to get the most “bang for your buck?” The item you saw on a TV commercial recently?

No, you want to make sure you get only the healthiest food for your dog. And that includes their treats. Which to choose?

(LINK – Puptastic Naturals All Natural Dog Treats)

While many regular dog foods have been researched with your pet's good health in mind, many dog treats haven't. Our current trend of canine obesity in America can be traced in part to unhealthy dog treats that work against a good balanced diet.

And where do many of today's dog treats come from? Some ingredients start in other areas of the world where making a profit is more important than good nutrition.

When you think of top quality food ingredients our American Midwest ranks near the top of the list. Outstanding farms mean outstanding foods. It's that way for your own diet, and it should be that way for your dog's as well.

At Furry Friends Natural Products we believe your loving companion deserves the same outstanding ingredients. And that's why we create our Puptastic Naturals All Natural Dog Treats because your dog deserves the best, homemade right from our own kitchens in small-town Grayslake, Illinois.

(LINK - Puptastic Naturals All Natural Dog Treats)

And right now Sue and I have a very special offer for our new friends and customers, one that your dog will absolutely LOVE.

We're offering a sampler pack featuring all five of our fantastic treat flavors FREE. Now your dog can try all of our terrific treats and let them choose which is their favorite.

Will it be savory beef? Or tasty chicken? Maybe delicious lamb will be their pick. Or yummy turkey or nutritious liver.

Watch their eyes light up as they delight in their choice. Like kids at Christmas.

It's a chance for you to reward your trusted pet partner. They're a valuable member of your family.

Sue and I hope you check us out. You won't be disappointed...
